

Denoting a Citation

The markup for a citation is double question marks. The em dash character is part of the rendering.

```
??citation??
```

For instructions, refer to the Atlassian help page:

<https://confluence.atlassian.com/conf613/confluence-wiki-markup-964960693.html>

Confluence renders the double question marks as follows in the XHTML:

```

  Here is a

  <cite>test</cite>

  of the citation markup.

```

If you want the citation to be inline, rather than a separate paragraph, you can remove the paragraph breaks around the citation, in the Source Editor.

```

  Here is a <cite>test</cite> of the citation markup.

```