

What is the Difference between ATB and ATM 1.0

What is the difference between the AIM Template Builder and the AIM Template Manager?

This user's guide explains how to use the AIM Template Builder (ATB), a Java application that you can install locally without a web connection. It uses the most recent release (version 1, revision 23) of the AIM template XML schema. The AIM Template Manager is similar to ATB but is a web application that runs on the Internet. It uses an older version of the AIM template XML schema (version 1, revision 18) and will be available only until mid-2012.