

Including an Excerpt from One Page on Another Page

Consider using an excerpt or multiexcerpt in the following cases:

- Displaying excerpts in a Page Tree or Children Display macro. For information, refer to Putting a List of Child Pages on a Page.
- Displaying excerpts from blog or news posts. For information, refer to Attracting Attention to the Blog \(News\) Posts.
- Displaying a multiexcerpt to mark a link as external. For information, refer to Marking Links as External to US Government.

If you want two wiki pages to display the same content, consider using an Include page or a multi-excerpt, rather than an excerpt, because it is easier to keep track of where they are used. For information, refer to Finding Where Reused Content Appears or Including the Content of a Page on Another Page.

This page and the following child pages demonstrate including an excerpt from one page on another page.

List of Child Pages

To view the Confluence editor view of the macros in use:

1. Open the child pages.
2. Click the Tools (...) icon above the page title, on the right side of the page.
3. Select View Source.

Example of including an excerpt

The following is an example of the Excerpt include macro. The excerpt is in italics.

This is an Excerpt on a page titled "Page with Excerpt." Excerpts are useful, but each page can have only one. The Multiexcerpt macro allows for creating as many excerpts as needed on a single page.

For instructions, refer to the following Atlassian help pages:

- <https://confluence.atlassian.com/conf613/excerpt-include-macro-964960809.html>

Example of including multiple excerpts

The following is an example of a Multiexcerpt include macro. The multiexcerpt is in italics.

The following is another example of a Multiexcerpt include macro, for a multiexcerpt on the same page. The multiexcerpt is in italics.

You can define as many excerpts as needed on a single page with the Multiexcerpt macro. You can include a Multiexcerpt from a page in another space. The page title is in the form "spacekey:pageName."

If you include Multiexcerpts inside one another (nest them) bulleted lists will not be rendered properly. Links in a Multiexcerpt include may not be rendered properly in another Multiexcerpt include.
