

Managing Collaboration Groups

Collaboration groups allow researchers to share data among members of the group.

Access to Groups

- If you are logged in as a curator, you can manage (create, edit, and remove) all collaboration groups in caNanoLab and view a list of samples assigned to each group.
- If you do not have the curator role, you can manage (create, edit, and remove) only your own collaboration groups.

This chapter describes how to manage collaboration groups in caNanoLab.
