

Using Labels

Labels help keep related pages together, for reference by the page owners and to help other users of the site.

This page includes the following topics:

- About adding a label to a page
- About adding a category label for a wiki space
- Display a list of content with a particular label
- Instructions

About adding a label to a page

To separate words, use the underline character, for example: `separate_words`. Labels are all lowercase.

About adding a category label for a wiki space

If you have the needed permissions, you can add a category label to a space. If you do not have these permissions (are unable to see the links described in these steps), and want a space label, ask an administrator.

Display a list of content with a particular label

You have the following options:

- Search for pages with the label (filter example, syntax example, and URL example); the matching pages, if any, will be shown on the search results page.
- If you are in a page that has a label or labels, select a label to view a list of content with that label.
- Use the Content by Label macro to display a list of content having a particular label.

Instructions

For instructions, refer to the following Atlassian help pages:

- <https://confluence.atlassian.com/conf613/add-remove-and-search-for-labels-964960395.html>
- <https://confluence.atlassian.com/conf613/use-labels-to-categorize-spaces-964960270.html>
- <https://confluence.atlassian.com/conf613/content-by-label-macro-964960795.html> 